

Curriculum Vitae

Name: Tristan Gorrindo, MD
Date Prepared: September 20, 2020

Narrative: I am committed to advancing the field of medicine by working at the intersection of technology, systems change, education, and physician leadership. As a practicing physician with experience in technology/app development, building multi-stakeholder coalitions, advocacy, and executive leadership, I am uniquely qualified to advance large national initiatives focused on improving clinical care. My work over the last 5 years has largely focused on helping physicians adapt to evolving clinical environments, implementing new models of care such as telemedicine and collaborative care, and promoting the implementation of evidence-based practice in interprofessional clinical settings.

Report of Funded and Unfunded Projects

Funded Projects

1997-1999	National Institutes of Health. Biomedical Engineering and Instrumentation Program Intramural Program (PI: John Peterson, PhD) Laboratory Assistant
1999-2008	Georgetown University, Center for Population and Health. (PI: Maxine Weinstein, PhD) Project 1: Social Environment and Biomarkers of Aging Study (SEBAS) in Taiwan Project 2: Biodemographic Models of Reproductive Aging (BIMORA) Research Fellow in Aging
2008-2013	Biodemography of Health, Social Factors & Life Challenge (PI: Maxine Weinstein, PhD)

- N.I.H., 5R01AG016661-08 (RO1 renewed in 2011)
 Consultant
- 2011 Study of Global Aging and Adult Health (SAGE) (PI: Somnath Chatterji, MD) World Health Organization (WHO)
 Consultant
- 2011-2015 Relationships in the digital age: An internet survey of the impact of technology on families and couples
 Principal Investigator IRB Protocol #:2011-P-002306/1
 National survey of parents regarding social and educational technology use in children.
- 2011-2015 Spaulding Harvard Spinal Cord Injury Model System (PI: Birnbaum)
 United States Department of Education
 Co-investigator
 The major goal of this study is to determine the clinical and functional effects of Transcranial Direct Current Stimulation (tDCS) for the treatment of pain associated with chronic spinal cord injury (SCI). Dr. Gorrindo's role is to lead the knowledge transfer efforts to educate SCI patients and their caregivers.
- 2012 Online Graphic Novel/Sequential Art Authoring Tools for Therapeutic Storytelling (PI: Russell Shilling)
 Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA)
 Consultant
- 2012-2015 Boston-Harvard Burn Injury Model Systems (PI: Birnbaum)
 United States Department of Education
 Co-investigator
 The major goal of this study is to develop a model system center which will provide comprehensive rehabilitation services to individuals with severe burn injuries. Dr. Gorrindo's role is to use his expertise in e-Learning based technologies and methodologies within the continuing medical education environment, to assist in the design, implementation, and analysis of results within the proposed project.
- 2012-2015 A Novel Functioning Neuroimaging Approach for Detection of Visual Cognition in Patients with Severe TBI and Disorders of Consciousness (PI: Birnbaum)
 United States Department of Education
 Co-investigator
 The major goal of this study is to develop a model system center which will provide comprehensive rehabilitation services to individuals with traumatic brain injuries. Dr. Gorrindo's role is to use his expertise in e-Learning based technologies and methodologies within the continuing medical education environment, to assist in the design, implementation, and analysis of results within the proposed project.
- 2013-2015 Mood Patient-Powered Research Network (PI: Nierenberg)
 Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI)
 Co-investigator
 Comparative effectiveness project focused on patient driven research to examine longitudinal course and treatment efficacy in patients with mood disorders.
- 2013-2015 Soldiers and Citizens Project
 Principal Investigator
 Public education initiative which uses acting, community panels, and innovative mobile apps to raise community awareness of PTSD and TBI in combat veterans.
- 2014-2015 Parents' beliefs about their children's reactions to the Marathon bombings and their aftermath (PI: Rauch)

- Co-Investigator IRB Protocol #:2013-P-002651
 Phone-based survey of 400 parents in the Boston area examining the impact of the 2013 marathon bombing and community lockdown on the mental well-being of children.
- 2015-2016 Understanding the Evidence for atypical antipsychotics
 Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ)
 Principle Investigator
- 2015-2018 Transforming Clinical Practice Initiative: Support and Alignment Network ($2.9M award)
 Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS)
 Investigator
 CMS funded effort to train 3500 psychiatrists and 1000 primary care physicians in the Collaborative Care model.
- 2015-Present Provider's Clinical Support System Medication Assisted Treatment Supplement ($360K award)
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
 Subaward Principal Investigator
 Oversee the development and dissemination of webinars, podcasts, and other educational materials for psychiatrists related to the treatment of substance use disorders using medication assisted treatment.
- 2018-Present Opioid Response Network ($479K award)
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
 Subaward Principal Investigator
 Oversee the development and dissemination of technical support tools to assist clinicians in the implementation of evidence-based practice of medication for addiction treatment.
- 2018-Present Clinical Support System for Serious Mental Illness. ($14.2M award)
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
 Subaward Principal Investigator
 The initiative supports the implementation of evidence-based, person-centered pharmacological and psychosocial interventions for individuals with serious mental illness.
 This 5-year initiative leverages an interprofessional team of experts and partners to provide education and technical assistance to clinicians caring for individuals with serious mental illness.
- 2020-Present Suicide Prevention Resource Center ($1.4M award)
 Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)
 Subaward Principal Investigator
 Oversee the development and dissemination of webinars and other educational materials for clinicians implementing evidence-based screening and interventions for suicidal ideation.

Unfunded Projects

- 2009 Pilot study of Computer Assessment Simulation Tool.
 Principal Investigator (unfunded)
 Completed an initial pilot of the CSAT software among adult and child psychiatry trainees.
 Results are described in Gorrindo, Acad Psychiatry, 2011 Fall;35(4):232-237.
- 2011- 2013 Psychophysiological Indicators of Performance in Computer-Based Simulation
 Principal Investigator (unfunded) IRB Protocol #: 2011P-000906
 Measuring affective engagement (heart rate variability and galvanic skin conduction) and knowledge retention in subjects using the Computer Simulation Assessment Tool.
 ClinicalTrials.gov Identifier: NCT01509794

2008-2010	Moonlighting	Department of Mental Health, Fuller Mental Health Center	40 hrs per month
2014-Present	Private Practice

Technological and Other Scientific Innovations

Surface coatings for hot-melt adhesive film.	Peterson J, Gorrindo T. U.S. Patent 6,699,721. Filed October 23, 2001; issued March 2, 2004. Component of early versions of laser capture microdissection used throughout Pathology.

Computer Simulation Assessment Tool (CSAT)	Online, interactive web-based simulation program used to assess a learners' performance in simulated clinical encounters. CSAT is structured to serve as an education intervention and a performance assessment tool. Has been developed and deployed through international CME programs available through the MGH Academy. Described in Gorrindo, Acad Psychiatry, 2011.
CEForms.com	Designed and coded an online platform used by academic societies and medical associations to automate the collection and processing of Continuing Education (CE) related forms.
SMI Adviser App	Developed an app for an inter-professional group of healthcare providers who care for those with serious mental illness. The app includes resources, accredited education, interactive rating scales, and the ability to seek consultations from SMI experts.
My Mental Health Crisis Plan App	Developed an app which allows patients to create psychiatric advance directives using their smartphones and which are legally recognized in 36 states.
